I have reviewed the policy related to overload limits on the web at https://www.colorado.edu/facultyaffairs/academic-affairs-course-overload-policy and I certify that this additional teaching appointment does not exceed the limit on overload teaching, which allows no more than one additional course per semester over and above the equivalent of a full-time appointment. This overload limit includes all courses taught at the University of Colorado, including Continuing Education and other CU campuses. This certification is only applicable to FOR-CREDIT courses.
